Lakeshore study nearing completion

Document will be a tool to help councils with planning, official tells county

Work is continuing on a lakeshore capacity study that will help municipal councils make planning decisions, but it could be months or even years before the study is approved for use.

Martin Sinclair, manager of research in the special projects branch of the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing, told Haliburton County council last Wednesday that while work on the study is progressing, the lakeshore capacity model has not yet been tested.

The study is being co-ordinated by the housing ministry because it has jurisdiction over the province's Planning Act. Housing ministry teams are contributing land use information and integrating the study results. Other ministries involved in formulating the document are the Ministry of Natural Resources and the Ministry of the Environment.

The MNR, which Sinclair jokingly described as "the ministry of no results", has responsibility for fish and wildlife aspects of the study, while the MOE ("the ministry of open endedness", said Sinclair) is carrying out water quality and microbiological testing.

The result of the ministries' combined efforts will be 'The Ontario Lakeshore Capacity Simulation Model', a document that should help planners assess the impact of proposed development on water bodies and the surrounding land.

It will be "a management tool", according to Sinclair. "It does not make decisions for you."

At the moment, there is no scientific means of assessing what will happen to a lake if more lots are added, and in many places efforts are underway to improve water that has been adversely effected by development.

With the lakeshore capacity model, municipalities will be able to "use a little bit of foresight and avoid some of these problems" Sinclair said.

Scientists have discovered that not all lakes are the same, and that water bodies react differently to development. Analysis has shown that it is not merely the number of cottages on a lake that determines what will happen to the water quality, fish and wildlife, but the number of days those cottages are used. Ten cottages used year round can be as detrimental to the environment as 100 cottages used only a few days a year, Sinclair noted.

As well, the study has shown that clearing lots instead of leaving them relatively untouched contributes to water quality problems because pollutants reach the lake more quickly and in greater quantity.

In a question period following Sinclair's presentation, Lutterworth reeve Ron Gambell asked if the completed study might make it easier to get developments approved by the Ontario Municipal Board.

Sinclair replied that while he could not speak for the OMB, the lakeshore capacity model would provide factual information with which to present a case for or against a particular development, rather than the emotional arguments which are more usual in the absence of scientific data.

In reply to a question from Monmouth reeve Keith Tallman, Sinclair said that prospective deve-

Tighe elected in Monmouth

Dwain Tighe of Wilberforce has defeated four other candidates in a by-election for a single seat on Monmouth council.

The election, held Monday, drew a total of 342 voters to the polls, turnout that municipal clerk Sharon Stoughton described as "about average for the local people." There are 558 permanent residents in Monmouth.

Tighe, who has been active in community affairs but has not previously served on council, polled 129 votes, well ahead of second place finisher and former deputy reeve Carman Coumbs, who was defeated by Harry Clark in last November's municipal election.

Howard Anderson of Tory Hill, who served on council in the mid '70's, finished third in the election race, drawing 52 votes, only one more than fourth place candidate P. John Finlay, also of Tory Hill.

The fifth candidate, Pearl Foster of Tory Hill, drew 10 votes.

Tighe, a forestry technician employed by Wilberforce Veneer, will be sworn in on December 5.

Council has two years remaining in its term of office.

County wants more assessment facts

Haliburton County councillors have agreed to invite the regional assessment commissioner to their December meeting in a bid to find out more about equalized assessment.

Ivor James, who is based in Lindsay, will be asked to bring council up to date on the effects of adopting the most recent market values for assessment purposes.

A modified form of market value assessment has been adopted by municipalities across the province. Under this system, assessments within property classes are weighted according to 1978 or later market values. The scheme has

Study of municipal affairs advocated

County supports resolution for public education on municipal politics

Haliburton County councillors believe local citizens do not know enough about the functioning of local government, and have voted to support a resolution from the City of Stratford that advocates education programs focussing on municipal affairs.

According to the Stratford resolution:

- Local government is the level of government that most directly affects the everyday life of Ontario citizens.
- A greater understanding of how the local government process functions should encourage more citizens to vote in a municipal election as well as to take a greater interest in the affairs of their local municipality.
- Local government is deserving of much more attention in the school system in Ontario.
- There should be a concerted effort

There should be a concerted effort to improve the ability to deliver a higher quality of treatment on this most important topic.

- In restructuring the Ontario Educational System, the topic of local government has been passed over as regards any concerted effort to design a comprehensive program in schools.
- The Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing expended large sums of money on a "get-out-to-vote" campaign in the 1982 Civic Elections which suggests that the Provincial Government is concerned with the small number of citizens who do actively participate in the local government process.

- The Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing and the Ministry of Education should be asked to co-operate with each other to develop new approaches to the teaching of local government to create programs which would enable citizens at large to learn more about the functions and operations of local government.

Warden Bill Howe agreed with the ideas expressed in the resolution. He said that informing people about municipal affairs and fostering interest in local councils is "a very important thing."

"I don't feel (citizens) are knowledgeable the way they should be in the operation of the municipalities or the county", Howe said.

In an aside to his deputy reeve Glynne Lewis, Lutterworth reeve Ron Gambell joked that "perhaps some of the councillors should get some schooling too."

Police do not approve bus transfer points

Despite a widespread public belief to the contrary, the Ontario Provincial Police do not approve locations where students are transferred from one school bus to another.

Gary Chapman, public services officer with the Minden detachment, said in an interview Friday that while the OPP will respond to a request from board members or school bus drivers to check out the legality of certain transfer points, police confine their advice to whether or not any Highway Traffic Act regulations are breached. They do not make formal judgements about the safety of particular transfer points.

The misunderstanding came to the forefront Thursday night at a meeting of the parents association of Archie Stouffer Public School in Minden. Chapman said everyone who attended believed bus transfer points had OPP approval.

"One of our prime concerns is that should an unforeseen accident happen, the OPP might be seen to be legally responsible, when in fact that would not be the case" Chapman said. He also noted that there would be ill feeling on the part of the public if there is an accident at a location thought to be approved by the OPP.

Since the October accident involving a school bus and a dump truck on County Road 1 in Snowdon Township in which several students and both drivers were injured, the

General Occurrences

During the period of November 14 - 20, 1983, personnel at Minden Detachment investigated the following occurrences: 17 motor vehicle accidents in which two people suffered minor injuries, and 38 general occurrences, including five thefts and three break and enters.

Stolen Car Recovered

On November 17, P.C. Boyd Jarvis checked a 1975 Oldsmobile and learned that it had been stolen five days earlier in Toronto.

Charges with possession of stolen property, breach of probation, and driving while suspended, is Darwyn Mintz, age 22, of Irondale.

ATC Stolen

An all-terrain cycle was stolen from a Kinmount area residence on November 17 and abandoned on a trail a short distance away.

Charged with theft of the 1983 model Yamaha ATC is James Ronald Tate, age 16, of Mississauga.

Shoplifting

Staff at the Haliburton Stedman's store apprehended a juvenile girl last Tuesday and recovered $7.28 worth of goods which had not been paid for. The youth will appear at Family Court in Lindsay next month.

Hit and Run Accidents

Three property damage motor vehicle accidents occurred in the Minden area last week in which the offending vehicles left the scene.

On November 19 a 1980 yellow Toyota was struck in the Red and White store parking lot.

Again on the 19th, a blue 1978 Ford pick-up was damaged on Highway 35; and on the 20th, a Ford Mustang was struck while parked at the arena.

Anyone who witnessed any of the above accidents is asked to contact Minden O.P.P.

The Criminal Code of Canada stipulates that everyone involved in a motor vehicle accident must stop and provide his name and address to the other parties, and must offer assistance if any injury has occurred.

Accident

On Sunday, November 20 at 12:30 a.m. on County Road 18 in Minden Township John Teljeur, age 17, of Dysart Township lost control of his 1978 Ford van, which entered the ditch and rolled over. The van sustained damage estimated at $4,000. Teljeur was treated at Haliburton Hospital for minor injuries.

Teljeur was charged with careless driving and with consumin alcohol while a minor.

Road reports set

The Ministry of Transportation and Communication's Winter Road Reporting Service for the public went into operation on Monday, November 14.

The Road Information Centre at Toronto and the ministry's offices throughout the province have up-to-date information on the condition of all provincial and secondary highways 24-hours-a-day, seven-days a week during the winter months.

Stanhope to combine parks, recreation and community centres board

At the November meeting of Stanhope council, the following matters were considered:

Mrs. Ann Barker declared a conflict of interest on item #17 under general business with respect to the catering "for the Christmas Party" and during the discussion and voting on this matter Mrs. Barker was excused from the council chamber.

Council approved in principle a proposal by Bronwen Paterson to carry out beach improvements on the original allowance for road fronting property on part lot 4 concession 3 as outlined on a plan attached to a letter from the Ministry of Natural Resources dated October 25, 1983. This approval was granted subject to approval of abutting property owners.

Council agreed in principle with a proposal by John Dietsch to stop up, close and convey part of an original allowance for road between lots 10 and 11 concession 9, Township of Stanhope. However, the Clerk was directed to contact Dietsch to clarify certain concerns of council (i.e. ownership of allowance after closing, purchase price of allowance, responsibility of costs, etc.).

Council approved in principle, a request by Jack Fry to open a portion of original allowance for road on part lot 28 concession 4 and 5 for the purpose of constructing a driveway to his cottage residence. Fry requested to submit an Ontario Land Survey of the allowance(s) where the road is proposed for future use in a road opening by-law.

This approval is subject to an agreement between Fry and the Township that the Township is held harmless from any liability as a result of future use of this allowance and also with the understanding the proposed road will not be maintained by the Township.

Council refused to grant approval to Ms. Dorothy Schroeder for the calling of fence viewers to review the circumstances on a portion of unopened road allowance on part lot 28 between concession 4 and 5.

Council approved a proposal by Jack Mathews to carry out certain improvements as outlined on a site plan attached to a Ministry of Natural Resources letter dated October 5, 1983 on the original allowance for road fronting part lot 7 concession 2, Boskung Lake. This approval was granted subject to approval of abutting property owners.

Council approved two severance applications conditional upon the lands described in the applications being re-zoned to an SR category.

Council approved of a severance application submitted by Margaret J. Goodger.

Council accepted with regret, the resignation of Mrs. Marlene Deller from the Stanhope Recreation Committee. Council wished to express its appreciation to Mrs. Deller for her work, effort and dedication to this committee over the years.

The clerk was directed to prepare draft by-laws for the establishment of a combined Parks, Recreation and Community Centres Board Committee and also a committee to be responsible for the future capital and maintenance costs on facilities related to the Parks, Recreation and Community Centres Board.

Council acknowledge receipt of the Recreation Committee meeting held October 26, 1983.

AH & M Council

At its most recent meeting, Anson, Hindon and Minden council considered the following matters:

Frank Reinholz of the Ministry of the Environment was present regarding Council's proposal to install another lift at the Scotch Line Landfill Site. A general discussion ensued regarding the operation of the site and proposals for improvements as well as suggestions for closing the site when it reaches its capacity.

Dean Elliot attended council requesting that the surplus accrued by the Minden Recreation Committee in 1982 be reimbursed to the committee as there are some much needed repairs that could be completed if the surplus funds were transferred to the committee.

Ross Carver and his solicitor Fraser Rogers were present regarding a recommendation made by the Planning Advisory Committee requesting council to review property in 1981 which prevented any further severances. A comprehensive map of the property was available for council's review and a discussion took place concerning the payment of a fee in lieu of property dedication pursuant to the Planning Act.

The application was referred back to the Planning Advisory Committee for further consideration.

Ed Pergolas, Chairman of the Planning Advisory Committee, reported on his committee's recommendations.

The recommendations made by the Planning Advisory Committee at its meeting held October 26, 1983 were approved, except for Mr. R. Carver's application which was referred back to the Planning Advisory Committee for further consideration.

Council acknowledged and accepted the summary report from the County of Haliburton concerning the assumption of Municipal roads into the County roads system providing the Bobcaygeon Road from Highway 118 to no. 35 is assumed into their system by January 1, 1984. Resolution 83-397 was rescinded and the following substituted therefore: The

Speeds reduced in Lochlin

People who drive on County Road 1 from Haliburton to Highway 121 will now have to reduce their speed when they pass through the hamlets of Lochlin and Gelert. Speed limit on the road has been 80 kilometres an hour, but under a by-law passed by Haliburton County council last Wednesday, speeds will be reduced to 60 kilometres an hour in Lochlin and Gelert.

The limit remains 80 kilometres an hour on all other sections of the roadway.

Work program set for Dysart

Eight people will get up to 10 weeks of work in Dysart et al this winter under a government sponsored employment program in co operation with the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Four people will work in the Harcourt area cutting ski trails along the York River and the Algonquin Park boundary.

Another four will clear an area at the Kennesis Lake dam to enlarge a parking lot, and will finish out the employment period by cleaning up public access points on lakes within the municipality.

The eight, chosen from a list provided by the Canada Manpower Outreach Centre, have all been unemployed for several months and would otherwise be receiving UIC benefits.

reduced inequities within property classes with relatively little hardship to individual property owners.

Market values are continually updated by the assessment commission, however, and council hopes to find out if 1980 or newer statistics should be substituted for the 1978 figures being used by most local municipalities.

Board of Education has asked the OPP to review a transfer point at Highway 121 and County Road 18 at Ingoldsby. Recommendations are expected to be discussed at a meeting of the board Tuesday night. But Chapman stressed that while he might give a personal opinion about the safety of the transfer location, "I would not be allowed to give an OPP opinion."

The local OPP are involved in school bus safety education, visiting schools to explain eight safety rules to students. And every second year, classes practice evacuation procedures using a full sized bus.

But police have never assessed the relative safety of transfer points, Chapman emphasized. Decision on where students will change buses are the responsibility of the board of education and the bus operators with whom the board contracts.

lopers would still be required to carry out water quality tests, but the information obtained could be "fed through all the models" for assessment.

"It might speed up the process" of development approval, Tallman observed.

"That's what we're hoping" Sinclair agreed.

The MMAH official could give no indication of when the lakeshore capacity model would be approved for use by municipalities.

Tree by-law proposed

A draft proposal for a county wide tree cutting by-law is expected to be presented to Haliburton County council next month. The proposal, based on a similar by-law adopted by Dysart et al council last year, would establish minimum diameters for some species harvested by commercial loggers.

Elgin Stouffer, Stanhope deputy reeve and chairman of the county's forest management committee, asked councillors with objections to make their feeling known to the committee before the by-law is brought to the table.

Stouffer said he hoped that in passing a tree cutting by-law at the county level, "we can at least create the appearance" of good forest management. Ultimately the county might be able to attract industry that depends on good quality timber if the local forests are upgraded by management techniques, Stouffer told council.

While the tree cutting by-law would be aimed at commercial operations, Stouffer also wants the management message to be brought to private land owners. He urged councillors to support the committee's efforts by including forest management pamphlets with tax bills.

The pamphlets, produced by the Ministry of Natural Resources, outline management practices for private woodlots, and were distributed in some of the county's municipalities. But Stouffer hopes the message can be kept in front of the public by sending out the pamphlets on an annual basis.

PC association elects officers

The Victoria/Haliburton federal Progressive Conservative Association elected a new executive Monday night at the association's annual meeting in Lindsay.

Bill McDougall will serve as president, with Phil Clark serving as past president. Second vice president is Dale Robinson. Sid Stamp was elected vice president in charge of finance.

Secretary is Fred Reynolds, Mary Algar will serve as treasurer. Directors include Bill Coe, Art Dawson, Marg Pallett, Doody McCullum, Lorne Chester, Dave Murray, Barb Dawson and Ruth Anne Matthews.

Member of Parliament Bill Scott was on hand for the meeting, and was presented with a cake to mark his eighteen years of representing the riding in Ottawa on behalf of the PC's.

Guest speaker at the event was Pat Nolan, Member of Parliament from Annapolis Valley Nova Scotia, who focussed on the need for a change in government and Canada's role in NATO.

Postmaster to retire this week

After 30 years of looking after the mail for Haliburton Village and much of the surrounding area, Jim Perrin is retiring. He will step down from the job of postmaster on November 30.

A long-time resident of Haliburton, he began working for the Post Office on November 1, 1953 as a postal clerk. Five years later he was promoted to the position of postmaster, and has carried out the job for the past 25 years.

Employees of the local post office honoured their long-time boss at a party Saturday night.

Jim and his wife Evelyn plan to continue living in Haliburton, but hope to use some of their free time to travel across Canada.

Lloyd Johnson, who is presently the assistant postmaster in Minden, has been chosen to replace Perrin. Johnson will take over his duties at the Haliburton post office on December 1.

Dysart says no to notification

Dysart et al council has decided it will not bow to a Haliburton and District Real Estate Board request for special notification of meetings where land use issues are to be discussed.

Responding to a letter from the board, councillors pointed out that all planning matters and zoning changes are advertised in the Echo and circulated according to legal requirements. The onus is on ratepayers to make their objections known to council.

Proposed zoning and land use changes "are publicly advertised, and we feel that is sufficient" reeve Murray Fearrey said in response to the Real Estate Board request.

"I don't think we should go beyond the law."

Students and teachers at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School were entertained and instructed by Al Fillbrook Monday afternoon. Fillbrook delivered the keynote speech to kick off Career Week at the school.

Students will take part in a variety of activities through Friday to help them make choices about their future education and job possibilities.

County to hold only six meetings

Two hour sessions a waste of money, four meetings to be dropped

Haliburton County council has voted to meet only six or seven times a year instead of the present 10 times, a move that should save taxpayers several thousand dollars in council remuneration.

The decision came last Wednesday, on a motion proposed by Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearrey and Monmouth reeve Keith Tallman.

Speaking to the motion, Fearrey pointed out that council has been meeting 10 times a year, conducting its business in an hour and a half and then heading off for lunch, with no need to return to the council chambers for an afternoon session. Councillors receive $55 per meeting, no matter how short or long the session may be.

Fearrey noted that much of the business at county council consists of passing road closure by-laws that have been approved by the municipalities concerned, and listening to correspondence, much of which goes to the municipalities as well.

"We can certainly handle that on a by-monthly meeting basis" Fearrey said.

If council met less often, business could be carried over into the afternoon when necessary, the Dysart reeve said, adding that while six meetings were proposed in the motion, seven meetings might be needed.

Warden Bill Howe commented that clerk Winn Lahay would need "some direction" on when council intended to meet, so that business could be scheduled accordingly. He also noted that the motion did not preclude the calling of special meetings when the need arises.

Council's management committee of Fearrey, Tallman and Anson, Hindon and Minden reeve Lyle McKnight will draw up a schedule of 1984 meetings for council's endorsement.

Combine deer, moose hunt county to urge MNR

If there is a moose hunting season in Haliburton County next year, Haliburton County council has asked that it be held in conjunction with the deer season rather than before it.

Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearrey, who proposed the motion asking the Ministry of Natural Resources to schedule the moose hunt at the same time as the deer hunt, said the move is intended to protect the deer, which might otherwise be harassed by hunters' dogs in the course of the moose hunt, then be subjected to a further two weeks of pressure during the open season.

While no date has yet been set for a moose hunt in the area, council believes that one will be scheduled under the alternating system that has prevailed in the Minden District in recent years.

Conservation officer Steve Elliott said in a telephone interview that there will "almost certainly" be a moose season in the county next year, but that no date for the hunt has been set. "We expect there will probably be a season (for moose) every year" now that the Ministry has implemented a tag system to control the number of animals killed, Elliott noted.

While moose and deer hunting seasons co incided in the past, they have been kept separate in recent years "to reduce the kill and to provide more recreation", Elliott said. He said that one of the Ministry's aims is to provide as many recreation hours as possible for hunters, and that distinct seasons for moose and deer are one means of accomplishing this.

As for county council's concerns about dogs running deer out of season, Elliott said that to his knowledge "it was not a problem" during last year's moose hunt.

He noted that "not nearly as many moose hunters use dogs" as do deer hunters. The moose hunt is more of a "watch and wait" hunt, according to Elliott.

Council's resolution will be forwarded to MNR officials for consideration.

Browndale to change name, seek local input, meeting told Browndale (Ontario) has announced its intention to change its name by January, 1984, to Longview Child and Family Services. It also plans to formulate a long term re-organization plan, but to continue its service to emotionally disturbed children and their families through area programs in Haliburton, Thunder Bay, Midland, Barrie, Newmarket, Peterborough and Brampton.

Executive Director Dorothy Easton said a management team of three assistant executive directors has been appointed to carry out the task: Larry P. Davis for planning and clinical services, Steven Dorwich for administrative services, and Alan Villillee for program services.

Browndale board president John Dickson told the organization's annual meeting November 8 that greater emphasis will be put on community representation and advice in policy-making within the agency.

"We intend to pursue this matter further, either by direct representation on the board or through local advisory groups who will advise the board from time to time on key local issues" Dickson said.

Browndale currently has a budget of $12.7 million, provided by the provincial Ministry of Community and Social Services, and has a full time equivalent staff of 450 people. It operates five residential houses and a school in Haliburton, as well as 28 other residential houses, several schools and non residential programs in other Ontario communities.

Arena, liquor store broken into over the weekend

Minden OPP are investigating three break and enters which occurred in the county last week, two of them in Haliburton village.

On November 16 a break in was reported at the Irondale Steak House on Highway 503 in Snowdon Township. Entry was gained by breaking the glass of the front door.

Beer valued at $60 and coins valued at between $10 and $15 were reported stolen.

Saturday night or Sunday morning, the glass was broken out of the entrance door at the liquor store in Haliburton. Police say they do not know yet whether anything was taken, and that any loss will not be determined until inventory is taken. A break in was also reported at the Dysart arena. Three doors were kicked open, damaging the doors and frames.

There was no indication of what, if anything, had been stolen when police began their investigation on Monday.

Use the rules

Haliburton County councillors exhibited an exasperating absence of insight last week when they mused on reasons for the public's apparent lack of interest in, and knowledge of, municipal and county affairs. Councillors were quick to endorse a resolution from the City of Stratford that asks the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing and the Ministry of Education to devise programs that will teach youngsters and adults about the workings of first tier governments. But councillors failed to recognize that if people know little and care little about municipal affairs, it could be because so little of the workings of local governments are exposed to public view.

Almost all council meetings are open to the public of course, and all decisions on important issues must be made in those sessions, when, in theory, the public has a chance to scrutinize the process and watch elected officials in action. In practice, however, few citizens attend council sessions, the majority of which are utterly boring even to those directly concerned. It is left to the press, or more specifically, to the editor of the Echo, the editor of the Times, or the Times' reporter, to attend as many meetings as time and personal commitments will allow in order to bring councils' decisions to the attention of the public. But the press cannot reflect the workings of council unless council is willing to provide the raw material out of which newspaper stories are made. Specifically, councils have to express opinions on matters that come to the table if they want the public to know more about how decisions are made, and why certain actions are taken.

Unfortunately, particularly in the case of county council, there is too little dialogue, and decisions appear to be made as much in ignorance as in reason.

One way out of this problem could be the adoption of a procedural by-law. At the very least, an attempt should be made to follow accepted rules of order. This does not mean that council's debates must be as rigid as those in upper tier governments. But some rules of order should be followed in the interest of bringing more information to the public.

When a motion is introduced at county council, the mover should be asked to speak on it. Then the seconder should speak, rebuttal and comment should be required from other members, and the mover allowed to sum up. Obviously the passing of accounts or the adoption of minutes do not demand such a rigid adherence to procedures. But other issues do, and it should be at the discretion of the warden to invoke correct procedure on matters of importance.

Too often there is an embarrassing silence around the council table. If council finds its affairs soporific, how can it expect the public to be alert to the nuances of municipal government?

To their credit, councillors have at least recognized that 10 meetings a year are an injustice to the taxpayers who must shell out the thousand dollars or so that is handed over to councillors for each session. The five or six councillors who contribute opinions to the meetings can do so just as well in six sessions as they can in 10, and the other 14 or 15 members will at least be forced to come back to the council table after lunch if they are to earn their $55.

Council is right to be concerned about the public's interest in and understanding of, municipal affairs. Local governments are important to the social order, and they are perhaps the only place where the effectiveness of the democratic process can so clearly be seen. But rather than shifting the onus onto provincial ministries, council's should take a hard look at how they make decisions, and do all they can to ensure that the public has the information with which to judge the effectiveness of their elected representatives.

To The Editor:

The Highlands Little Theatre Group has just completed another year of live theatre presentations. The writer feels that our community-at-large owes these dedicated and talented people a vote of thanks. However, there are a number of myths surrounding their work and activities that, I feel, must be dispelled.

The first myth is, that they are a small closed group not interested in new blood. Nothing could be farther from the truth. Since their inception they have attempted by advertising, work-of-mouth, personal pleas, public lectures and direct approaches to interested people, to enlarge both the size and scope of their productions. Some years, they have had as many as 20 eager thespians at their inaugural meetings. However, when these newcomers learned how much time and personal effort they would be required to expend, a surprisingly large number found it impossible to fit the rigid schedule with their own time commitments. Over the years, many who started with us, found new jobs outside our area or became so involved in their own personal life styles that they were unable to continue. A number were willing to commit their time to a stage career but were unwilling to shoulder the other burdens involved in putting on a play. A very small number left because they were at odds with our executive. We still want desperately, to find new recruits and this writer guarantees that any and all will be welcomed with open arms.

The second myth concerns our financial situation. We are slowly building up a fund to enable us to maintain an inventory of costumes, lighting equipment, and sets. We have a long way to go before we reach that enviable state. In the meantime each member is responsible for all the physical labour involved in setting up these sets, building the sets, supplying the props and scenery, setting up the chairs, etc. etc. I can assure your readers that most of us in the group have dipped into our own pockets to meet some of the on going costs of production. We have many loyal supporters in the business community and we are eternally grateful for their help. But we need the support of the whole community and their understanding and co-operation. Finally, Mr. Pizzev, we need your personal support and help and that of your newspaper.

Finally, we need another form of help. We can only see ourselves reflected in our audiences' reactions. They are often too forbearing and too uncritical. We need you, Mr. Editor, to invest some of your time to hold up another mirror to our efforts. Constructive criticism is best given and soonest taken when it comes from within the group. Join our group as an "amicus curiae: -a friend of the court." Help us grow by showing us how we can better interpret the playwrights' feelings. Then help us communicate with this community so that those who are interested and willing will feel more motivated to join us. The community needs live theatre, we need the community and you can be the catalyst to make all this happen.

Sincerely,
H. Michael Collins

To The Editor:

This is a short letter concerning a big threat to Haliburton County and the Muskoka area. It is polluted precipitation called "Acid Rain". "Acid Rain" is a mixture of sulfur dioxide, nitrogen oxide and snow, rain or hail. It also is a serious problem. It is slowly killing off lakes and rivers by releasing zinc, mercury, aluminum and other heavy metals. "Acid Rain" is especially deadly to fish because the metal particles smother the fish when breathing. Plants also die. Sulfur dioxide is probably the worst problem because most of it comes from companies that burn a lot of coal or oil like the big nickel plant in Sudbury. If you want to help keep Ontario's lakes beautiful and healthy, you can write into Mr. Eakins, our M.P.P., to do something, because if we don't spend the money now in ten years or so the price will be even worse!

Colin Sisson, age 9,

To The Editor:

Although refused a day off to hunt, perhaps Sid Cooper could get time off to clean up and repair the laundromat. The place is a disgrace to Haliburton.

To The Editor:

As a former member of the Haliburton County Public Library board and as an assiduous borrower of books from the Dysart Library, I noted with interest Mrs. Sue Little's complaint regarding library hours. It was a perfectly legitimate complaint and one which has been voiced by many people.

I had hoped Mrs. Little's letter would be answered by a senior member of the library system, explaining in a knowledgeable way, the reasons for the short library hours.

Instead, this week you published a terse letter

Last week when I picked up one of the editions of the Toronto Star I was surprised to learn that Wishart Campbell, singer, composer and pioneer in Canadian radio, died at his island home in Scotland at the age of 82. To the young people who are coming up the name Wishart Campbell won't even ring a bell but for many of our senior citizens who knew him well the name will bring back many fond memories. He was a school teacher at Haliburton and a very popular man in the community. He lived here for close to four years before moving on to bigger and better things. He was a professional baritone singer throughout his career, and for nearly 40 years was best known in southern Ontario as a singer, composer and organist. He also composed music, including a religious song, "By His Word", which went on to become a U.S. hit in a version later recorded by the Andrews Sisters. According to the obituary in the Star it was while a serving member of the Royal Canadian Air Force during the war that he wrote "The Airman's Prayer", later selected as the official RCAF hymn, and other songs, including "We're Flying to a New Horizon". After the war he was director of music for CFRB, where he wrote, directed and produced several live radio shows.

Our congratulations go out this week Mr. Trumble, a former hunter and fisherman who at one time lived at Haliburton, who will be 116 years of age on December 15. He is at present a resident in a Belleville Nursing Home.

For the third year in a row, participating businesses in Haliburton and area will be taking part in the annual Pre-Christmas Discount Day which will be held on Saturday, December 3 from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. This one day has been billed as the Sale of Sales and you will find unbeatable savings on hundreds of items. Information on these bargains will be contained in a special section in next week's November 30 edition of the Echo. Shop locally and give yourself a treat. You'll be glad you did.

We have just been informed that the "Warm and Woolly Tree" at the Bank of Montreal in Haliburton will be available for knitted items on November 25. Donations of mittens, scarves, toques, slippers and socks will be accepted until December 22, at which time the Salvation Army will distribute them to needy families in the area. Please help out this worthy cause by bringing the knitted items into the Bank of Montreal.

Each and every year around this time when the Christmas season approaches, everyone seems to start talking about peace on earth, goodwill toward men. Never in the history of the world has there been a time like this present time of 1983 to really get serious about having peace in our world. If we let the nuclear weapons situation get out of hand then it will be game over for all of us. In past years we have had to face the fact that the word peace in our world has been nothing but cheap, idle talk, but let's hope and pray that the year 1984 will be the year when the word peace in the world becomes a reality. Let's also hope and pray that all countries in the world will get together and that talk of war will vanish from the face of this earth and that we will all live in a world of brotherly love. Surely this isn't too much to hope for.

At the November 10 meeting of the Rotary Club of Haliburton Rotarian John Beachli introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Mr. Vern Nelligan who receives and acts on complaints under the new Home Warranty Programme. Homes which have this warranty approved stamp must be built by registered builders and gives original or subsequent owners protection for five years. Last week's meeting of November 17 was held at Curry Bishop's home at North Lake. A bus left the United Church parking lot in Haliburton at 5:30 p.m. transporting the Rotarians to North Lake.

Glen Hodgson was telling me the other day that back in April he had noticed a white whistling swan out in front of his home at Haliburton Lake. Then on Sunday morning, November 13 he looked out of his front window and noticed the same whistling swan sailing down the lake. Glen was wondering if the swan's appearance in April was to herald the start of spring and that he came back last week to usher in the winter of 1983-84.

We are certainly pleased to see that Mrs. Bella Bernstein of Haliburton is able to be back in the store following a slight accident that occurred recently. She was out for her evening walk and was coming by Banks' General Store and walking on the side of the road when all of a sudden from out of the blue she stumbled, falling face first on the pavement and believe it or not the only injury she received were two black eyes. Her glasses weren't even broken. Her friends are all glad to hear that this was all that happened as she could have been badly hurt in a fall such as this. Mrs. Bernstein told me that she doesn't know just exactly what happened to make her fall as the pavement was bare.

Pic of the Past

Our thanks go out this week to Walter Loucks of 145 Yorkshire Street in Guelph, Ontario for sending us this photo which we are sure will bring back many memories for those who travelled the highway from Lindsay to Haliburton. The photo taken in April of 1955 shows Vera Loucks standing beside the very large billboard which welcomed everyone to the Highlands of Haliburton. It was located on the boundary of Haliburton and Victoria County line. When driving from other centres on your way to Haliburton you always knew that you were getting close to home when you passed this sign.

Queen's Park Report

John Eakins, M.P.P.

By JOHN EAKINS, M.P.P.

A year has passed since the Ontario government's seizure of three firms involved in a controversial $500 million flip sale of some 11,000 Toronto apartment units. Since a number of people in Victoria and Haliburton Counties have contacted my office with regard to trust company concerns and the problems associated with other investment companies, I would draw to your attention a White Paper which the government has tabled in the Ontario Legislature. The White Paper proposes tough restrictions on loan and trust companies operating in the province to avoid a repetition of last year's trust company incident, and it contains numerous recommendations for revamping and tightening regulatory control of the industry, including:

- Each company starting in business should be allowed to act only as a loan corporation. It would be allowed to assume fiduciary and other trust powers only after it "demonstrates its capability", meets financial requirements and is approved by the registrar.
- A new commissioner of financial institutions should report directly to the Minister, advise on policy, act as a watchdog for the public interest and hear appeals of decisions by the registrar.
- A new Assistant Deputy Minister should be responsible for the administration of all ministry branches regulating financial institutions, and the registrar should be separate from the superintendent of insurance.

- A separate investigative unit should be established within the financial institutions branch.
- The powers and functions of every loan and trust company should be reviewed annually.
- Companies should have to establish audit and investment committees (consisting of a majority of outside directors) which would review financial records and investment decisions. In addition, the province's registrar should have prior approval of all appointments of chief executive officers and chief financial officers in these companies.
- Directors or officers of companies should face fines of up to $100,000 for failure to disclose personal conflicts of interest in any transaction involving their companies.

The Minister of Consumer and Commercial Relations also tabled the report of an internal review committee which examined the administration and regulation of financial institutions by his Ministry.

The study stated that those who oversee Ontario's multi-billion-dollar loan and trust company industry now rely on "moral suasion (and) the integrity of the companies' officials to conduct loan and trust business with consideration for the protection of public deposits." Staff time was "considerably under-utilized" on the regulators' prime function of examining company compliance with the act and "a deterioration of the reporting and directing responsibilities" was observed within the Financial Examination Services Branch.

Report from Parliament

By Bill Scott M.P.

On November 14, the now infamous Crow Rate Bill passed Third Reading in the House of Commons. This Bill changes the rate that Western farmers must pay to transport their grain to market. It will have a tremendous impact on the viability of particularly smaller operations. On the positive side, the railways claim that it will create many new jobs in their ranks.

I am glad we are now able to get on to other things in the House of Commons. We are not yet out of the economic problems of the past few years and it is time we got back to other economic issues. Daily, I am still approached by constituents, generally young constituents, looking for jobs. We may be on the road to recovery, but there has been little effect on the unemployment rate yet. Again, this year, the funding our constituency has received for Winter Works programs through Employment and Immigration will fall very short of the amount necessary to make a real impact. It is unfortunate that there is not enough to allow them to approve all job creation projects that they have received applications for.

Also on November 14, the House of Commons paid their final tribute to the late Hon. Walter Baker. I did not have the opportunity to join in the proceedings at that time. Walter was a friend and advisor of all M.P.'s. His concern over the integrity of Parliament led to the first real reforms of House procedure that have occurred in many years. In all the years since his election in 1972, I have never met a constituent of his who was not proud to call him their M.P. It was a great loss, as his contribution to governing this country was great. We will all miss him.

which in no way addressed itself to the complaint.

The writer began by saying he/she took "exception" to the previous letter. This is rather amusing, for surely no one has more right to complain of a public service than the taxpayer who helps to finance it! It is the duty of any person or service whose income is derived from the public to give the best possible service within its budget. The letter then proceeded to give the office hours of the County Library, which has nothing to do with the hours in which the Dysart Library is open. The complaint was the lack of access to the Dysart Library for people who are working and have only lunch hour in which to look for reading material.

If, as stated, the opening hours depend on the number of people using the library, then perhaps the present hours are self-defeating. If the budget allows only a certain number of hours each day, perhaps more thought could be given as to which hours would ensure optimum use of the facility.

This should not be allowed to escalate into a public debate for I'm sure we can rely on the Haliburton County Public Library board and its staff to give due consideration to this complaint.

Yours sincerely,
Peggie Neville

Editor's note:

The letter in response to Sue Little's came from Mary Packard of Haliburton library. We regret that Mrs. Packard's signature was inadvertently left off her letter when the paper was put together last Tuesday afternoon.

To The Editor:

I want to write and tell you how pleased I was to read the Minden news. I enjoy reading the Echo. Mr. Harrison keeps me up on the news from the Seniors home in Minden. I do know a lot of people in the home and it is nice to hear how everyone is. I am sorry there is no Maple Lake news and not much from Carnarvon and West Guilford. So come on girls, get your pen and paper busy and give us some news from home.

Thanking you,

To The Editor:

Thanks to our local artists the Help A Village Effort Committee's first Haliburton Artists Variety Evening was a tremendous success. Through involving our accomplished, resident artists we know now that we can have an annual concert of the finest quality. Considering the very good attendance, we realize, too, that county residents want to see and support our performing artists. The members of the HAVE Committee are extremely encouraged by the response of all participants in their magnificent support of the Committee's efforts.

It is a beautiful experience to have villagers in Haliburton County expressing their concern in a practical way by assisting villagers in a developing, Third World Country to help themselves. Thus far the amount of money received from the Haliburton Artists Variety Evening is $657. All of this money has been forwarded to the self-help projects being funded by the HAVE Committee in the village of Ibrahimpuram, India. For instance, the Chapel construction is costing $2500. To date $2250 has already been provided with the balance to follow as soon as available. Also, $420 have been received (from friends of HAVE in Brampton) towards the well drilling fund of $1500.

In speaking about her Mission of Charity, Mother Theresa of Calcutta, India, has said: "We ourselves feel that what we are doing is just a drop in the ocean. But if that drop was not in the ocean, I think the ocean would be less because of that missing drop." We of the HAVE Committee believe in the importance of these drops, and that with them a mighty, effective wave can surge around our earth.

Thank you,
The HAVE Committee

To The Editor:

A very special thanks to the parents of students in the Haliburton County schools for their excellent response to the many questionnaires they have filled out regarding our school system. Your input is being tabulated and evaluated along with the responses from students, teachers, administration and board members.

Although the process is a long one, with the final recommendations not being made until probably June, your excellent response will help provide a firm foundation for decision making.

Thanks again, parents, for the time, effort and thought put into your responses.

Yours truly,
Doug Mitchell

To The Editor:

Christmas approaches quickly but many destitute people will not see Christmas this year simply because they are blind. Do you know that thousands of destitute blind people can have their sight restored by a simple 10 minute cataract operation costing no more than $20. But only if we care about their suffering.

Christian Blind Mission can turn $20 into new eyesight. Twenty dollars pays for the cataract surgery, hospitalization and cataract glasses. Nowhere can more be done for less! This honest, efficient use of each dollar donated allows blind beggars to have their sight restored and to become hard workers able to support their families.

Can you imagine a poor child born blind with cataracts staying blind all his life because nobody cares enough to give him this simple sight restoring operation? Can you imagine yourself doomed to a life of darkness because nobody cares?

Christian Blind Mission has worked with and for the blind since 1908 and in the last 12 months gave the gift of sight to 105,960 destitute blind people in 91 of the poorest countries. Think of that. 105,960 blind people now able to see because we cared enough to help them.

From the Chamber

"What does the Chamber of Commerce do for me?" (Part 2)

Last week's column dealt with the various promotional activities that the Chamber is involved in to bring visitors into the county. These efforts benefit all residents and businesspersons alike, whether they belong to the Chamber or not. That's what we are here for and that is why we get some of our financial assistance from the County Council, but that isn't all we do. If it was, we wouldn't need dues paying members.

Business people join the Chamber of Commerce because we offer a lot of other services besides just promotion. We have direct access to all levels of government and are kept up to date on programs, legislation and current issues. We can, and do, lobby the various governments on behalf of our members in order to make their collective voices heard. When new programs come into effect we see if they could benefit our members and we strive to have them implemented in our area. For example, in the past we have successfully fought for and sponsored the Manpower Outreach Centre, the Hospitality Training Centre and last summer's Small Business Management Development Program to name a few.

It is impossible for us to visit everyone of our members. Manpower time and money make that impossible but we are working on ways to keep in better communication. Feel free to write, phone or drop in to the office. We do want to know your thoughts and ideas. We will listen to your complaints and do our best to help. After all, we really aren't the Chamber of Commerce, you are!

When someone calls our office requesting a specific service, we refer them to one of our members. If a member should request assistance or guidance in some area of their business, we know where to get that help, often at little or no cost. Every business person needs help at some time or other, that's why we sponsor seminars in small business management development.

You can teach an old dog new tricks if the old dog is willing to learn. We learn something new every time we pick up our mail and then we pass it on to our members in our bi-monthly newsletter.

We can't do all of these things without the support of our members. If you are interested in not only building your own business but also in strengthening the community as a whole, you should be a member of the Chamber of Commerce. Better yet - become an active member.

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

It's time for insulation

Last week I hauled my down jacket out of the closet for the first time this fall, and couldn't help wishing I'd been born with a little natural insulation. There's no doubt that the natural winter coats of wild mammals and birds of the north are warmer for their weight than anything we've been able to manufacture.

Dead air is the miracle insulator. By retaining body heat it makes life possible even in the polar regions. Winter fur and feathers are designed to achieve this end. The familiar northern white-tailed deer, for example, wears a summer coat of straight slender hairs. But the hairs of the winter coat are not only short and crinkled, they're hollow as well. Each contains its own dead air cell. In addition, there is a scanty undercoat of fine wool for added warmth, a sort of long underwear, you might say.

In birds, insulation has reached new heights. Feathers in themselves are near-perfect air traps. With the addition of a dense layer of down, such birds as the sea ducks and penguins can be nonchalant about the coldest temperatures.

Of course a down jacket is ineffective without a covering windshell. In birds, this windproof shell is formed by the outside plumage, the feathers that we all see. Most birds keep these outer feathers fairly waterproof as well as windproof by preening them with oil from an oil gland just above the tail.

Birds can also regulate the degree of insulation by compressing their feathers to drive out the air in warmer weather and by fluffing them up when it's cold. Thus in extremely cold weather a chickadee appears much fatter than normal.

Ahah! but what about their featherless feet, you say. Well, it happens that birds don't try to keep their feet as warm as the rest of their body, the way you and I do. Most northern birds have a regulatory device which enables them to reduce the amount of warm blood flowing to their feet. So their feet can withstand near-freezing temperatures without pain. When the temperature

Midgets win consolation with quick overtime goal

Haliburton's OMHA Midget hockey team skated their way to the consolation championship in a one day tournament at the Dysart arena on Saturday. Haliburton lost 4-3 to Beaverton in the opening match, then rolled over Peterborough 8-0 to gain a place in the consolation final. In that match an overtime goal by Tran LaRue gave them a 6-5 win over Sudbury.

The championship trophy went to Bancroft, who defeated Sudbury 7-4 in the first round, then took Port Perry 6-2 in the semi final, setting the stage for a 4-1 victory over Beaverton in the final match.

In other first round action, Beaverton took Peterborough 6-2 and Port Perry defeated Humphrey 8-2.

The opening game of the tournament had Haliburton square off with Bracebridge, in what proved to be two games in one. Bracebridge took an early two goal lead when Mark Quemby and Trent Anderson scored in the first minute and 30 seconds of play. Bracebridge increased its lead to 3-0 when Dina Tomassoni scored by the mid point of the second period.

Haliburton showed signs of coming to life when Jeff Howe scored late in the second period, with an assist going to Chris Laporte.

Bracebridge appeared to have the game wrapped up when Greg King gave Bracebridge a 4-1 lead with just five minutes remaining in the game.

However, two late goals for Haliburton by Tran LaRue and Mike MacNaull, put the game at 4-3 with one minute and forty seconds remaining. Haliburton applied the pressure for the remainder of the game but were unable to tie the score. Goal tender Andrew Burk played a strong game for Haliburton in recording the tournament's only shut-out.

Final score was Bracebridge 4, Haliburton 3. Two star selections were: Bracebridge - Greg King; Haliburton - Tran LaRue.

Playing in the consolation round, Haliburton's second game was against Peterborough. Haliburton scored four times in the first period on its way to an easy 8-0 win. Dennis McKee and Mike MacNaull with two goals apiece, lead the way with singles going to Jeff Howe, Chris Laporte, Cary McKnight and Tran LaRue. Goal tender Andrew Burk played a strong game for Haliburton in recording the tournament's only shut-out.

Two star selections were: Wayne Smith, Peterborough; and Dennis McKee for Haliburton.

The final in the consolation round saw a strong team from Sudbury take on the Haliburton Midgets. The game had Haliburton open up a four goal lead by the middle of the second period. However, Sudbury did not give up and with just 29 seconds remaining in the game, scored to tie the game at 5-5.

In the tournament's only overtime game it took Tran LaRue just 10 seconds to score on a neat passing play from Mike Blake and Mike MacNaull.

Goal scorers for Haliburton were Tran LaRue with three and singles going to Len Johnston, Mike Blake, and Jeff Howe.

Two star selections were: Wayne Wesno of Sudbury and Tran LaRue of Haliburton.

Atoms battle to tie in game with Minden

Haliburton's OMHA Atoms battled to a 5-5 tie in a hard fought game against Minden on Friday.

Greg Brohman and Jamie Hunter led the Haliburton team with two goals each, while Derek Wilson got the other marker.

Assists went to Chris Greenfield, Wade Wood, Jeff Black and Chad Bain.

Haliburton's defense was bolstered by the play of Reid Elstone and Russell Morrison.

Hans Fluegel was once again solidly in control of the net, and appears to be improving with every game.

This Friday the Atoms will be at the Dysart arena to meet Port Carling. Saturday, they'll head for Minden to compete in a one day Atom tournament.

Haliburton's OMHA Midgets defeated Peterborough 8-0 in second round action on the consolation side of a one day Midget tournament at the Dysart arena on Saturday. Here Glen Hall heads out of the Peterborough end as the play moves outside the blue line.

Action tight in men's league

Haliburton Lumber settles for tie, remains undefeated

Haliburton's men's league teams played some of their best hockey of the season Monday night in two low scoring, hard fought games.

In the first match of the night, fourth place Bishop and Wilson came close to defeating Curry Motors, but slipped behind by a single goal late in the third period and could not come back.

Neither team put the puck past the goal tenders in the opening period, but two and a half minutes into the second period, Wayne Ellison scored for Bishop and Wilson.

For the rest of the period the puck was kept out of the net by both sides, but early in the third, Rick Wood teamed up with Jim Burke to tie the game.

Wood got his second of the night at the 5:49 mark, assisted this time by Luke Schell, and Curry Motors had a 2-1 lead.

Emmerson Lumber was first off the mark with a goal at the half way point of the first period. Gary Brohman got the score, assisted by Jerry Walker.

Neither team managed to change the score until 9:00 of the second period, when Kim Emmerson put his team ahead by two with help from Joe Roberts.

Haliburton Lumber got on track in the third period, narrowing the gap to one at the four minute mark on an unassisted goal by Drew Curry.

Three minutes later Hali-burton Lumber tied the score, once again on a solo effort, this time by Paul Morrisette.

With the momentum going for them, Haliburton Lumber surged into the lead at 8:50 on a goal by Glen Scully, and 54 seconds later, took a 4-2 lead as Keith Hodgson beat Kevin Finch in the Emmerson net.

Emmerson Lumber did not concede the game, however, and with 7:53 remaining, Steve Barker brought his team within one on a scoring play that was assisted by Joe Roberts.

Finally, with only 53 seconds left to play, Dean Curry teamed up with Roberts and Gary Brohman to beat John Cornell and salvage a 4-4 tie.

Four minutes later, Tom Curry replied for Bishop and Wilson and the game was tied once again.

The deadlock was broken with 7:24 left on the clock, as Steve Roberts tallied for the motormen, assisted by Pete Lyburner.

Bishop and Wilson did their best to come back but Curry Motors held them off, and skated away with a 3-2 victory.

In the second match of the night, Haliburton Lumber found themselves hard pressed to hold off the attack of Emmerson Lumber, and although the Haliburton Lumber team kept their undefeated streak intact, they had to settle for a tie.

There was plenty of hitting, not all of it clean, in the consolation final game of Saturday's Midget tournament in Haliburton. The local Midgets, in the dark uniforms, battled Sudbury to a tie in regulation time, but won the match on Tran LaRue's overtime goal.

Midgets impressive in MacTier defeat

Despite the weather last Tuesday, November 15, the MacTier Midgets visited Haliburton and came out of the game on the short end of an 11 to 2 score.

Tran LaRue opened the scoring in the first period from Mike MacNaull. Len Johnston followed up with help from Jeff Howe; Glenn Hall scored unassisted; Len Johnston added a fourth from Jeff Howe and MacTier scored one to leave Haliburton with a 4-1 lead.

In the second period, Len Johnston tallied from Jeff Howe; Chris Laporte notched one from Howe; Johnston scored from Laporte and Howe; and LaRue from Ian Cooper and MacNaull.

Haliburton kept the pressure on in the third period, as LaPorte scored unassisted;

Cory McKnight also scored unassisted; and Johnston tallied from Howe. MacTier scored one more in the period to take an 11-2 loss.

On Sunday, November 20, the local boys visited MacTier and skated off on the smiling end of a 9 to 2 score.

MacTier opened the scoring and then Jeff Howe scored from Ian Cooper and Len Johnston to tie the game. It stayed that way until in the second, Mike Blake scored from Dennis McKee; Cory McKnight tallied from Mike Blake and Jeff Howe; and Chris Laporte Minden Atoms played an exhibition game in Haliburton Friday, November 18. Score: Minden 5, Haliburton 5.

Minden came from behind to tie the game. Aaron Hie had a good game in goal with a game saving save near the end of the game. Scoring for Minden: Dave Lee and Robbie Ackerblade with two goals each and one goal by Darren Sawyer from Mike Muli.

In Minden Saturday, November 19 Minden Atoms tied Port Carling 5-5.

Minden was down 4-0 at one point but they came back to tie the game with only 47 seconds left to play. On the whole, it was a good team effort. Scoring for Minden were: Darren Sawyer, one goal; Robbie Ackerblade with three goals; and Dave Lee, one goal and one assist.

The Atoms are looking forward to their tournament on Saturday, November 26 when they start off by playing Haliburton at 8:00 a.m.

Minden Pee Wees played in Minden Saturday, November 19. Score: Minden 5, Port Carling 2.

Scoring for Minden were: Scott Russell with three unassisted goals; Sheldon Stevenson from Russell and Stephen Schrader; and Joey Boyle from Kent Taylor and Tom Northgrave.

Minden Bantams played in Minden Saturday, November 19. Score: Minden 3, Port Carling 9.

Scoring for Minden were: Gord Wood from Derek Allison and Trini Elias; Derek Allison from Trini Elias and Jason Stamp; and Trini Elias from Derek Allison and Gord Wood.

The Haliburton Midgets met Sudbury in the consolation final of a one day tournament in Haliburton on Saturday. It was a chippy game, unlike Haliburton's other matches, but the local boys held onto their tempers and earned a 6-5 win in overtime to earn the consolation trophy.

Peewees split series with MacTier

Team gets off to quick start at home, skates to 6-4 victory last Tuesday

Submitted

The Haliburton Pee Wees played a home and home series with MacTier this past week and each team came out a winner on home ice.

In Haliburton this past Tuesday, the local boys came out fast, opening up a quick 2-0 lead and never looked back in defeating the team from MacTier 6-4.

Scoring for Haliburton was as follows: John Vukic assisted by Greg Scheffee; John Vukic assisted by Jeff Francis; John Vukic assisted by Greg Scheffee; Philip Johnston unassisted. Greg Scheffee assisted by Jeff Francis; and Jeff Francis unassisted.

Gavin McKnight played a solid game in goal for Haliburton, while the defence of Darren Byers, Jason Smith, Shaun Perrin and Roland Greber turned in a solid defensive effort. Forwards Kelly Youngdale and Darren Warburton, while held off the scoresheet, had several good scoring opportunities and played well defensively.

The boys returned to MacTier on Sunday and while having several good scoring opportunities, came out on the short end of a 3-1 score.

The only goal for Haliburton was scored by Jeff Francis, assisted by Greg Scheffee.

The Pee Wees play at home each Tuesday evening at 7 p.m., so why not try and get out and enjoy some exciting hockey.

Bantams suffer two losses

Haliburton's House League Bantams suffered losses in their last two contests, losing 6-2 to Wilberforce on Saturday 5 and 16-2 to Apsley on Saturday, November 12.

The Apsley game was played at 8:00 a.m. in Apsley and the Haliburton boys seemed to have trouble waking up. In the game against Wilberforce, the Bears played well but were without regulars Jeff Smith and Eoin Ross. Mark Robinson was called up from the Pee Wees to fill in in goal and played well.

Goal scorers for Haliburton in the Wilberforce game were Mike McKay and Dave McKay. Ben Packard assisted on Mike McKay's goal. In the game against Apsley, Eoin Ross and Dave Hodgins tallied for the Bears with Paul Robinson and Dave McKay picking up assists.

In spite of the score, goalie Jeff Smith played extremely well for the Haliburton squad, stopping numerous break-aways and close-in chances.

The Bears are at home to Vito's Pizza of Bancroft this Saturday at 2:00 p.m. at the Haliburton arena. Coach Robinson and his charges will be looking to regain the winning touch at that time.

Of Inspired Words

The great truths of life,
Through inspiration,
Are given to men
In every nation.
These hear the call -
So clarion clear -
Within their higher,
The inner ear.
But few are they,
Fewer yet do stay
With open, outer ears
To hear what wise men say.

Jean A. Frazer

The People Asked The Poet

The people asked the poet why
He pointed always to the sky;
And answering, thus he spoke to men -
"The truth is there; is now, was then
When through the ages, Teachers came
With different versions of the same
One story, which for mankind told
This truth, which never will grow old.
"The world evolves, it grows through love."
Bright symbol is the sun above
Which grants to all beneficent rays
By which man lives his life of days;
Nor favours any single thing,
Nor people, race, nor even king
Is shown more favour than the least
Of men, or plant, or even beast.
So grow in love, my brother, friend,
Thy erring ways, do try to mend.
Thine eyes and thoughts, lift to the sky
And thou canst answer thine own "Why?"

Jean A. Frazer

It's Warm, It's warm.

The snow is falling all around
It falls on field and tree,
But inside my log cabin
It's warm as warm can be.

The snow is melting all around
It melts on field and tree,
But inside my log cabin
It's warm as warm can be.

There's a burning log in the fireplace;
On the hearth there's a pot of tea,
And soon the heat from all of this
Will be inside of me.

So sing a song to the fireplace,
A rousing cheer for the tea,
A warm salute to every face
Enjoying it here with me!

Did you know?

Did you know - that Katimavik is an Inuit word for "meeting place"? It is also the name of a national volunteer youth service program operated by a non-profit corporation and funded by the Department of the Secretary of State of Canada.

Katimavik volunteers work with and for Canadian communities to build or achieve valuable and lasting goals that otherwise would not have been reached.

Katimavik has four main objectives, and they are: to serve Canadian communities, to aid in the personal development of the participants, to stimulate the participants' environmental awareness and to provide participants with a greater understanding of the country.

Currently in the Haliburton Highlands, we have two groups. One group is located in Minden on the Deep Bay Road, and their group leader is Scott Moody. The other is located on Highway 121 by the Pinestone Inn and B. Roothams is their group leader.

Each house is comprised of about twelve volunteers and one group leader, and all the participants are governed by a Code of Conduct.

These kids are between the ages of 17 and 21 and they represent a very wide cross section of Canada's population. They are indeed, from every walk of life.

The Katimavik experience will be one these kids will cherish for the rest of their lives.

It will be a chance for them to meet and live with other people (outside their family) and travel, as well as learn another language. The project last nine months and could possibly be the most important nine months that Please turn to Page 14

Dear Readers:

I thought I would start this letter to tell you we have our supervisor back and feeling much better. So far we have escaped this weakening flu. A good preventative, you know, is a jug of good old mountain dew.

A nice service was held in the chapel Sunday night, although the Thompsons were not there. Mrs. Burgess read the lesson and also led in prayer. Rev. John had a record of favourite hymns, written by Fanny Crosby and sung by Dorothy Scotland. Rev. Bruggess sloke on a verse or two from the scripture: "Foxes have holes, the birds of the air have nests, but the son of man has no where to lay his head."

I told you of a few busy ladies in our last letter. I will tell you of more this week so you will get to know them better. Mrs. Eastmas, who is blind, must find it very hard to knit afghans, yard after yard. Lola Prentice is always in demand and always willing to lend a helping hand. Edith Welch, Jessie Walter and Helen Brown will do anything and never let you down.

Tuesday morning Rev. Westhaver of Minden United Church conducted the service in the chapel. He took his sermon from Psalm 126: "He that goeth forth weeping bringing precious seed with him shall doubtless come again, bringing his sheaves with him."

Tuesday afternoon Doris showed movies in the auditorium, "Gopher Broke", which was a joke, and caused a smile, "Garden of the Great Spirit" and "Enchanted Isle."

Tuesday night Thelma Watson from Fenelon Falls and Al Smith from Lutterworth Pines came and played for us, music that was really fine. We thank them for coming and we would like to say we are sorry more residents do not come to hear them play.

We children are behaving quite well just now you can guess why? Because we will soon have a visit from dear old Santa Claus.

Alfred Richardson is in the hospital; we thought it for the best, he had a really bad cold settle on his chest.

Mrs. Shuyler came back from hospital yesterday. If the doctor found the trouble, they didn't say.

The ladies from Minden LOBA brought in a delicious lunch this Thursday afternoon. They served assorted sandwiches, cheese, cookies and cake galore, tea, coffee, and soft drinks, what could one ask for more.

Thursday night, members of the Kinsmen club Don Cubbidge and Andy Poldas came to Hyland Crest, called the bingo numbers and were our special guests. We thank them for coming. Ted Carr, it was lots of fun, it was the first time in a long while that all the players won.

Friday morning Doris said "If any residents can be ready about 9 o'clock, we will take you to Lindsay to Christmas shop." Quite a number went along, leaving few to join in Sing Song, but we few pulled up our socks, helped our faithful who came again, Grace Coburn and Jean Cox.

On weekends here there are always relatives coming in to visit sisters or mothers. We hesitate to mention some, we may be missing others. I think I'll close this letter now, we have nothing more to tell, except we hope our readers will all stay well.

If we're thoughtful just this minute in what we say or do, if we put a purpose in it that is honest through and through, we shall gladden life and give it, grace to make it all sublime, for this life is long. We live it just one minute at a time.

God and the Bomb:

Minister offers a Christian perspective on the nuclear arms race

Editor's note:

The following article is adapted from a sermon delivered by John James to his United Church congregations recently. He has consented to its publication in this slightly altered form, in order that Echo readers who did not hear the words first hand may have an opportunity to share one reasoned point of view on the nuclear debate. If you agree or disagree with Rev. James, why not share your opinions with other Echo readers through a letter to the Editor. If the nuclear issue is ever to be resolved, the public must first get the facts and then speak out forcefully for world survival.

In the Haliburton County Echo of October 26, Dysart et al. Reeve, Murray Fearrey said, "I don't think there are any of us who are not concerned about the buildup of Nuclear Armaments" and Len Pizze, in his "Notebook" column said "It would be fair to say that no thinking person in Canada wants war. It is probably equally true that no sane and responsible citizen can see the nuclear arms buildup as anything but a kind of madness."

The question is, "how do we maintain peace?" It seems there are two basic positions. One is the position that is sometimes called "peace through strength", making sure that we are at least strong, or stronger than the Soviet Union and that includes building and stockpiling nuclear weapons. The other is the position of peace through working toward a freeze of nuclear weapons and then disarmament. Within that there are two positions, "Bilateral disarmament" where both sides eliminate their weapons one at a time; and "unilateral disarmament", or long range, where we withdraw our weapons, no matter what the Soviets do.

Two positions are open for Christians. The first is peace through strength. This would be best described, in Canada, by Ken Campbell, from the Emmanuel Baptist Congregation near Milton, Ontario and the president of Renaissance International. Ken Campbell has said "I do feel it is appropriate for the churches to counsel the state to deal with the Kremlin from a position of strength. In the balance of terror you have to keep a firm hand. It's the best deterrent while working for bilateral disarmament. I support Ronald Reagan's thinking because Washington's objectives are more humane, more pro-freedom, than those of the Soviet Union."

Edward Teller, who has been called the father of the Hydrogen Bomb and is currently a scientific advisor to the Reagan administration, has expressed a similar view. He stated: "I hope the nuclear freeze movement will not become an important force. The rulers of the Kremlin are as eager as Hitler to get power over the whole world, but unlike Hitler they are not gamblers. If we can put up a missile defense that makes their attack dubious, chances are they will never attack. We can avoid a Third World War but only if strength is in the hands of those who want peace more than those who want power." That is his way of saying that the best way to ensure peace is a strong defense, particularly in nuclear weapons.

In that argument, the Soviet Union is viewed as a very sinister and evil enemy which must be dealt with through strength. Or, as journalist Barbara Amiel put it, "you can tell the good guys from the bad guys. Our side is more humane than their side and you must, alas, always put bullets in your guns because you can't ward off evil by whistling Mozart in the dark."

Michael Novak is a Roman Catholic philosopher in the United States and a critic of social culture. When the Roman Catholic Bishops in the United States brought out their position paper urging Catholics to work for disarmament, he argued the other point and said "the point of deterrence is to deter." He was saying that most of those who are involved in the manufacture of nuclear weapons and the control of them, do so not because they want war, but because they want peace and believe that is the best way to bring it about.

I once met a committed American Christian who worked in a Rhode Island nuclear arms plant. I asked him, "how do you balance the two things together, your Christian faith and the possibility that this bomb you are working on may kill thousands of people?" He replied "I am probably doing more to keep peace than you are with your thinking."

Now, I'm not sure about that, but I have a clue as to what he was saying. So I respect the peace through strength position in terms of nuclear arms, but personally, I am at another place.

As an evangelical Christian I have come to the conclusion that nuclear war cannot be justified. As a matter of fact, the position that I hold is identical to that of President Reagan's pastor at his home church, Bel Air Presbyterian Church in California. Ronald Reagan's pastor said in a recent sermon, "because nuclear weapons are so destructive, so devastating, so final, they are morally indefensible. I must be a nuclear pacifist."

No 'justice' in nuclear war

More and more Christians are coming to this position. Newsweek Magazine recently reported that "the disarmament movement in the United States is gaining strength through the scientific community, through the medical community and through the churches." Twenty years ago, in 1963, in the United Church Observer, ran an editorial entitled "Canada should have nuclear weapons," but nine years later, in 1972, the General Council stated that the United Church is opposed to the testing and use of nuclear weapons anywhere in the world.

There are a number of reasons, as a Christian, that I have come to favour, a nuclear freeze and then bilateral (two way) disarmament as the best route to peace.

First, I have come to realize that there are already enough missiles to blow the world up many times over. No more are needed and right now we have a balance of power. In 1982, in the annual report of the Secretary of Defense of the United States, Casper Weinberger stated that the total nuclear forces of the United States and the Soviet Union were the same. That's why, if a national vote were taken on the Cruise, I would vote to refuse the Cruise. It's an attempt to get ahead and it will only force the Soviets to catch up.

The second reason is because of the huge economic cost. Building nuclear weapons costs people jobs. Economic studies have shown that for one billion dollars spent by government on nuclear missiles, 17,000 people would be hired. If that one billion dollars was put into the clothing industry, 28,000 jobs would come. If it was put into the hospital industry, building hospitals and staffing them, 48,000 jobs would come. If it was put into education, 62,000 jobs would result.

The massive military spending by all nations in the world keeps poor people poor. For example, a modern tank costs one million dollars. That could provide 1,000 classrooms for 30,000 children. Generally speaking, there is hurt to many poor people because of nuclear arms.

The third reason is because of the "just war" theory. I'm a nuclear pacifist but not a total pacifist. Most Christians supported World War I and World War II and I believe rightly so, because they were what the church calls "just wars." A "just war" is a war of last resort. All negotiations have been tried and it's the only thing you can do after you've been attacked. It's a war in which there is a right attitude. The attitude for a "just war" (and I believe this was our country's attitude in the two world wars) is to restore justice and not retaliation. Anger and revenge have not part in a just war. A just war has to have a reasonable hope of success. The world that is left after it should be inhabitable.

After a nuclear war it is questionable if the world would be a fit place to live. In a cartoon I recently read, two people were digging themselves out of the rubble. For miles around, there was nothing but ruin and blackness. One of them peered out from underneath a garbage can lid and said "we won didn't we?" But there were no others with whom to celebrate the victory. A just war should have no direct attack on civilians. And there is the real crunch. To use a recent example, the American attack on Grenada involved the bombing of a mental hospital and quite a few people were killed in that bombing. In a just war civilians are killed but that comes as a result of the war. The Americans didn't consciously attack a mental hospital. They were attacking a military party, and unfortunately some people were killed as an accident in the attack. That is fair in a just war, it's an attack on an army. You have armies fighting with armies. But a just war cannot have an attack on civilians. That's where the problem comes with a nuclear war. The defense of the free world right now is based on the fact that we have missiles aimed, not only at Soviet military targets, for that would be acceptable in a just war, but also at cities, to annihilate civilian populations. For centuries the church has said "that is not moral."

Total nuclear war, then is unjust. The defense of the Western world, however, is based on what is called "mutually assured destruction", sometimes called "MAD". And "MAD" is an appropriate name. Sustaining a nation's freedom on the willingness to destroy millions of other people is madness.

My thinking on this became clearer a few months ago when I read an article by Tom Harpur in the Toronto Star. Harpur asked an assortment of people, including many church leaders, this question: "If the Russians were the first to push the nuclear button and had the missiles coming over to North America, and it would be approximately 30 minutes before they arrived and blew things up, would you push back?" When I considered that question for myself, I had to say "No, I wouldn't push back." Revenge is not an option for the Christian. To shoot back at Russian people would be equivalent to killing the children of criminals. It would be morally wrong. I believe there are some wars that can be called "just" - World War I and World War II, for example - but a nuclear war doesn't fit that bill. That's why, although I'm not a pacifist, and believe there are times to fight, I'm a nuclear pacifist. I can see no reason for using nuclear weapons.

And finally, as I have come to understand God, and as I see the world He has made and the beauty of it, I can't believe it is His will to destroy the world. As I grapple with what I think Jesus would do if He were in this situation, I've come to the opinion that He would probably say "it's time to freeze" and it's time for each side to begin disarmament. When Jesus was attacked by a political power, the Roman empire, he told Peter to drop his sword. Jesus took the way of the Cross which is non-violence. Jesus said things like "Blessed are the Peacemakers", "Do good to those who hate you", "Love your enemy", "Bless those who curse you", "Pray for those who abuse you", "Forgive seventy times seven". You might say "isn't that naive idealism?" "Didn't Jesus himself get snuffed out on the cross?" "Didn't his life end in failure?" Well it appeared so, except for one thing. Jesus did not stay dead. On the third day he was alive again. By raising Jesus from the dead God proved that Jesus' way of loving his enemies was naive idealism but it was God's way to peace. In raising Jesus from the dead, God proved once and for all that he is on the side of life, not death.

The scriptures teach us, in II Timothy, Chapter 2, that Christians are to pray always for those who leading in state so that we might live peaceful lives. It is our duty to pray for political leaders, so that our lives here can be peaceful. I think the best thing any of us can do, is day by day to pray, particularly for those who are negotiating and

Theatre group aims high, comes close

The Highlands Little Theatre aimed high in presenting Neil Simon's "The Prisoner of Second Avenue", and it is a credit to the group's hard work that they came so close to pulling it off.

Simon is not an easy playwright. His milieu is New York and Jewish, his works a masterful combination of humour and pathos that demand skilled actors and a director with a subtle touch.

In most respects, the Highlands Little Theatre made the play come alive, but the production which opened Thursday and continued through Saturday, suffered from excessive volume at times, and failed to bring out some of the complexities that were apparent in the dialogue.

The play is set in the high rise apartment of Mel and Edna Edison, an 'ordinary', middle class couple who are struggling to cope with a noisy crowded and apparently uncaring world.

Mel Edison, played by Curtis Eastmure, is suffering from an acute case of frayed nerves, exacerbated, as it turns out, by the fact that he has just been fired from his job. His wife Edna, played by Heather Scully, struggles to understand Mel's frustration and to lead him gently through it. But the world continues to fall apart around the Edisons. The neighbours are noisy, the city roars incessantly outside the sliding glass balcony door, newscasts are filled with stories of gloom and decadence, the apartment is robbed, and finally, Mel has a nervous breakdown.

Through all of this, the relationship between Mel and Edna, though strained, endures, until in the end, still harassed and perhaps a little mad, they plot their revenge.

Eastmure's Mel was at times excellent, convincingly angry, humourously bizarre, biting witty. But the characterization was shallower than Simon's conception demanded because there was too much unbridled anger, too much raging and not enough quiet despair. With a lighter touch, the right gesture, a more varied pacing and delivery, the complexity of Mel's state of mind would have been made clearer. And so, too, would the strength of Mel's relationship with the long-suffering, ever supportive Edna. Heather Scully's reading of the character was sound, at times ingratiating and sweet, but she was too often forced to sacrifice the subtlety of Simon's words against the volume of Mel's rage. Edna's contributions to peace and freedom.

Four days of activities are on the program, including Command reception rooms, a banquet, concert and ball, a visit to a flying training station, an air show, luncheon, static displays and a cenotaph parade and memorial service.

Previous reunions were held in 1970, 1976 and 1980, each one larger and more spectacular than the others. Registrations are well ahead of previous reunions, mostly from flyers who attended one or more of the previous ones. Special air fares and charter flights are being arranged to bring former airmen from other Canadian provinces and abroad. Registrants will be kept informed.

Write or phone (204) 489-plus $95 for wives. A hotel deposit of $50 also is required for each person. The address is Reunion '84, P.O. Box 2639, Winnipeg, Canada, R3C 4B3.

Dorset News

By PHYLLIS BRISCOE
"There is so much good in the worst of us, and so much bad in the best of us, that it hardly becomes any one of us, to talk about the rest of us."

November the 11th is always a sad day for those who remember the wars that were fought to end all wars and with world conditions being in such a turmoil, I wonder what the future holds. The cold, cloudy day didn't help matters, but the snow that fell throughout the day did brighten up the landscape.

Don't misunderstand, I don't welcome the first real sign of winter and as I'm sure others do, I wonder if the white stuff is here to stay. Some say that we will still have Indian Summer. Wow; wouldn't that be something to look forward to?

I understand that there have been some lucky hunters in the area and they are getting their quota of deer. I suppose the hunters would be happy to see the snow fall as it makes it easier to track the animals. There have been a great many deer roaming along the road sides this fall and they are such graceful, innocent looking creatures that you would think a hunter would have to close his eyes to shoot one. Maybe that is what they do and there are so many misses. Idle chatter on my part, but we do feel sorry for the deer.

Ellen Avery tells me that they had a long letter from their grandson, John McLennan Jr., who has been backpacking through Europe since last September. He, and a friend, landed in Amsterdam, and since then have travelled through Holland, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Italy and was in Greece when he wrote. He had a trip down the Rhine River and a tour through the Vatican. He also saw the Pope at a distance. What a wonderful experience for a young person. One of his interests is architecture and this will give him an opportunity to observe many different types - old and new. He intends to finish off his trip by doing the British Isles, and plans on spending Christmas in Jerusalem.

The Dorset Senior club is planning on showing a videotape movie on Wednesday afternoon, November 23 at 1:30 p.m. The feature will be "The French Lieutenant's Woman." The public is welcome and there will be a charge of $1.50 to help defray expenses.

Many of our local residents are away on a Florida holiday, some returning in a few weeks after soaking up some sunshine to help them endure the rest of the winter, others taking off for several months and won't return until late springtime when the warm weather returns to our climate.

Hope I can glean more news for you next week.

H.H. If you are making stuffed toys or pillows for Christmas, one of the best stuffing materials is old nylons and panty hose cut up. Keep a paper bag handy and as you discard articles cut with scissors fairly fine. This way it will not lump up or pack, washes beautifully and can be fluffed up as with feathers.

NOV. 19

"Today's happiest man: the fellow who resolved to walk two kilometres a day but found a shortcut that would trim the actual distance down to five blocks."

Has old man winter come to stay? We would just as soon that wasn't so but it looks ominous. Some of us who aren't just crazy about winter don't look forward to four or five months of cold, snowy weather. And, believe it or not, a flock of wild geese were heard and seen last Thursday going south. Now what does that indicate? Did they just get confused, lose their calendar or decide to try a taste of winter weather just for the heck of it. Anyway, it was a phenomenon not often witnessed this late in the season.

We have a couple of youngsters to whom we would like to wish a happy birthday this week: Derek Baker, who will be seven on the 24th, and Matthew Woods, who will celebrate his fifth birthday on the 27th.

We have learned that Mrs. Ellen Baturensky celebrated her 80th birthday on Friday, November 11. A group of friends and relatives gathered at her home in Bracebridge to help make the occasion a festive one. The Baturensky family lived in Dorset for many years and reared their family here. We wish Ellen many more happy, healthy years. Another friend who was an Armistice Day celebrant, and to whom we wish many happy returns, is Isobel Palmer of Dwight.

We wish to express the sympathy of the community to Father Murray Bradford at the untimely passing of his wife Lorna, whose comparatively young life was snuffed out by a massive cerebral hemorrhage at her home in Thunder Bay. The death occurred on Wednesday, November 16. Father Bradford was the Incumbent of the Anglican Lake of Bays Mission from April 1975 to November 1982, when he was assigned a church in Thunder Bay. Our condolences are extended to all of Lorna's family members and friends.

The Lapidary group at the Dorset Senior Club are still active and meet each Tuesday at 1:30 at the club. If anyone is interested in becoming involved in this interesting hobby please call Frank Large at 766-2277.

Congratulations are in order to Ruth and Charles Ross on the birth of a baby daughter, in the Bracebridge Hospital on Friday, November 11. The little girl weighed 6 pounds, 11 ounces and is named after a great-grandmother, Christina Rebecca.

Recent visitors at the home of Millie and Murray McEachern were Millie's sister Helen and husband Charlie White from Nanaimo, B.C.

On Friday, November 25, at 7:30 p.m. there will be a meeting at the Dorset Community Centre for parents and ratepayers to ask questions, air complaints or consult with the local Trustee on the Haliburton County Board of Education, Dave Villard. Dave would like to meet everyone and discuss anything of interest. Everyone is welcome.

H.H. A teaspoon of salt added to the water in which eggs are boiled makes them much easier to shell.

Snow plus rain equals slush and who needs it?

Happy birthday to Helen Graham Wednesday, November 23. Helen's biggest and best gift is having her husband, Alex home from hospital following hip surgery. He's coming along well, so well, in fact, that the therapist took the walker away from him the second day he was home and put him on two canes. We were there for a short visit last week and Alex was getting around very well with one cane. He says he's a stubborn Irishman and that may very well have something to do with it. Another visitor at the Graham home the same day we were there was Phyllis McHale of "We Us and Co." crafts on Highway 503. It's good to have you home, Alex.

Happy birthday to our twins Louise and Tanya on Tuesday, November 15. Their godfather, Bill Moss Jr. was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital in Toronto the same day.

I hope Mandy Newman, the little Wilson Girl (Wilson Electric), Margaret and Sam Telford, Mary Martin Sr. and Cindy Hill are feeling much better by now.

A turkey bingo will be sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary, Norland Volunteer Firefighters Association on Monday, December 5 beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Norland Community Hall on Highway 35. There will be a draw on a beautiful handmade rag doll, made and donated by Laura Gaunt. I've seen some of Laura's handiwork and believe me, the winner of this doll will be a happy person.

A Christmas dance to be held at the same Norland Community Hall and sponsored by the above ladies should be a very nice evening out. There will be a hot lunch and a very nominal admittance of $12 per couple. Come out and enjoy the evening with your friends.

Winner of the Kinmount Legion 50/50 draw Saturday November 12 was R. Outram of Peterborough who took home $48.50.

Sunday, November 13 saw the parade to the cenotaph in Kinmount where our town and all surrounding areas were well represented in the beautiful floral displays. Following speeches by the dignitaries, most of those who attended went on to the United Church for the special service and were later invited to attend a delicious luncheon at Legion Branch 441. The ladies' Auxiliary outdid themselves again and all was enjoyed very much. Betty Lonsdale contributed her famous English trifle which was very much appreciated and Betty also led off the old time singing in her beautiful soprano and was accompanied by Ken Hyams at the piano. Everyone enjoyed themselves immensely and a visitor to our area, Mrs. Agnes Selkirk who is 84 years young, thoroughly enjoyed the whole day. I was invited to attend, but due to my son, who was preparing to go into hospital, I thought it better to stay home that day. I am sorry but thank you for the invitation.

I'm told the fowl supper at the Kinmount Legion which again was sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Branch 441 was a huge success, was well attended and thanks to all who helped in any way.

Lil and Harry Platt enjoyed unexpected company from Ottawa over the weekend recently when Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Nymark arrived.

Ruby Schell was happy to have one of her sisters, Eva

Smith of Sutton, stay with her for a week while Eva's husband Bert was away on the hunt. The two ladies visited a sister-in-law, Mrs. Elmer Burns, at Case Manor in Bobcaygeon one day, went to card parties and enjoyed dinner Saturday evening, November 12 at the home of Bertha, Bill and Keith Stata.

Kay Wren of Kinmount is in Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, following surgery.

I'm glad to hear Gertie Crichton is coming along after becoming ill at the Kirkfield Lions Bingo. Gertie spent the night in hospital following that one but I'm willing to bet she'll be back at her bingo very soon.

Don't forget the St. James Annual Christmas Bazaar and Luncheon to be held this year at the Kinmount Community Centre from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. this Saturday, November 26. There will be a bake table, white elephant table and a small rummage table. This is the last event of the year by the A.C.W. so come one and all and just maybe Santa will let you sit on his knee so Ken Hyams can snap you for posterity.

Roni Brelsford and Janet Abela were suffering last week from neck/back problems.

You really find out who your friends are when your cat has kittens.

expressions of concern, and the obvious depth of her love, did not find an appropriate foil in Eastmure's ever-angry and cynical Mel.

One of the most effective scenes in the play, humorous without being overplayed, was the visit of Mel's brother and sisters just after he has had a nervous breakdown. Jessie, played by Brenda Ellis, sniffs and dabs at her eyes delicately while Pearl, played by Bonnie Fitzgerald, Pauline, played by Betty Peruginio, and Harry Edison, played by Dale McConnell, try to figure out what went wrong with their brother. The characterizations here were perfect, and humour was never forced.

The set design for the play was impressive and director Caryl Douglas saw that her actors took full advantage of it, using every corner of the stage and moving purposefully to compliment the dialogue.

Overall the production was a creditable one, proving that Haliburton County residents have good reason to anticipate the group's future productions.

Perhaps, in the case of 'The Prisoner of Second Avenue' it would be appropriate to remember Robert Browning's claim that "a man's reach must exceed his grasp or what were a heaven for".

Volunteer program of the CAS offers support to parents in the home

The Volunteer Programme at the Children's Aid Society is part of an 'alternate to care' service designed to provide support for those parents whose children might otherwise be placed in foster homes. Sometimes, this support takes the place of direct parental relief, or assistance with home and child management skills.

A full-time service of the Society, volunteer placements are carefully selected according to one's skills, interests, and commitments. Children's Aid Society volunteers represent a wide cross section of volunteers including students, homemakers, employed, unemployed, and retirees. Prior to every placement, the assignment's objectives are thoroughly discussed with the volunteer.

Among the services that volunteers provide to the Children's Aid Society are: transportation to appointments, in-home support to parents, tutoring, parental relief, and clerical/research work. In 1982, Children's Aid Society volunteers completed 1,277 individual drives, covering 39,277 miles (reimbursement is made for mileage). In total, they contributed well over 2,013 hours of service.

The Children's Aid Society expects volunteers to give a commitment, to be reliable, punctual, and to respect confidential information. At the same time, volunteers can expect an orientation to the Agency and the Volunteer Programme's mandate, supervision of assigned tasks, and an opportunity for more responsibility as they become more experienced.

Finally, the true reward that comes with volunteering is the opportunity that it provides for increasing social contacts, developing new friendships and skills, not to mention personal learning and growth.

If you have an interest in working as a Children's Aid Society Volunteer, please contact Denise Walker, Volunteer Programme Coordinator at 457-1661.

RRSP season isn't over.

Far from it. Not when consistently high annual returns are so critical to your retirement income.

And not when a tax-free transfer for all or part of an under-performing RRSP is as easy as filling out a form.

So look both ways: to the past and to the future. And ask yourself: How does your RRSP stack up? Should you be considering a change?

Use top-performing Industrial Growth Fund to compare:

10 years - 19.12%

(Average annual compound rates of return to October 31, 1983):

Thanks to the folks who have asked re our son Bill's health. Surgery took place early Thursday morning, November 17. As I write this he is in the recovery room at St. Joseph's Hospital in Toronto. We understand there was a panel of student doctors watching the whole procedure from behind glass and at this moment he is in satisfactory condition. That is the news received by phone from our daughter, Bonnie.

An impromptu A.C.W. meeting was held at the home of Joan Hyams on Thursday afternoon, November 17.

A meeting was also called for the Kinmount and Area Horticultural Society executive on the same evening at the home of president Mary Martin. Sorry folks, I was unable to attend either of these meetings.

I'm told Virginia Barkwell has undergone her surgery but to date have no news of her present condition. Let's pray they're all well soon.

Did you know?

these kids will experience.

If you are interested in the concept of Katimavik or would like to find out a bit more about the group you can call either B. Rootham at 457-1676 or Scott Moody at 286-3777.

Do you have a question of a social, legal, health, governmental or environmental nature? We can help. So give us a call at 457-2733 or drop in to see us at the County Information Centre. We are located in Haliburton at the Drag River Municipal Building and our office hours are Monday to Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

And remember, you will never know the answer until you ask the question.

The Grey Cup is coming to the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 441 in Kinmount. Date: Sunday, November 27; time: 12:00 noon until 11:00 p.m. There will be a large satellite and an admission charge of $3 which will include a lunch. Everyone is welcome.

Congratulations to Mrs. McDuff of Gooderham who won $160 on the fifty-sixth number at the Kinmount Legion bingo, Friday, November 18.

Gord and Lil Taylor of Norland spent two weeks recently visiting the "Soo" area and also a brother, Charlie Thornton, who is in hospital in Elliott Lake, later visiting with Charlie's wife at their home in Massey.

Congratulations to Thelma Hockley of Claremont who was the lucky winner of the beautiful afghan in the draw held at the Kinmount Legion last week. Thelma is sister-in-law to the "Kinmount Five to a Dollar" Hockley family.

I must close for another week. Stay well and happy and keep on reading the Echo.

Agricultural report

When was the last time you scrubbed your face with cornmeal and honey, or rinsed your hair with vinegar? If you are one of the 450 4-H members taking part in the "Looking Great - Feeling Great" project, you probably have tried some of these make-at-home grooming tips in the last month or two. This 4-H Homemaking unit sponsored by 48 community clubs in Victoria and Peterborough Counties, draws to an end this month. All club members and leaders, as well as parents and friends will be joining at one of the four Achievement Programs. This fall, the programs are being hosted by the 4-H Clubs, and will take place in Downeyville, Burnt River, Bridge-north and Keene. Residents of these localities as well as the general public are invited to the evening program to see 4-H in action. There is an open house between 7:30 and 8:00 p.m. in each location. On display will be the members books and research projects, club displays and educational exhibits. Of particular interest will be the display on "4-H Quilting". This unit is being offered in January. At 8:00 p.m. the program begins and there will be skits, demonstrations and exhibits with commentary on many grooming and consumer related topics. The evening will conclude with the presentation of awards to members receiving County, Provincial and Advanced Honours.

The Achievement Programs are being held on Friday evenings; November 11 in Downeyville Hall, November 18 in the Burnt River Recreation Centre, November 25 in the Bridgenorth United Church Hall and December 2 in the Keene Recreation Centre.

As the members have studied a variety of topics including consumerism, and handling complaints and shopping strategy as well as grooming, the evening presentations promise to be informative as well as entertaining.

Minden council

On top of all these sight restoring cataract operations, Christian Blind Mission saved hundreds of thousands of destitute people from going blind. Altogether, CBM gave medical and surgical help to 2,111,232 poor people through CBM eye surgeons, doctors and nurses. CBM also dispensed 146,000 pairs of glasses to people who desperately needed glasses to see properly.

In Canada we receive the best of health care and we are indeed fortunate but overseas people go blind simply because of eye infections, lack of Vitamin A, and cataracts. All of these devastating eye problems are so simple to remedy.

I have travelled throughout these poor countries and have seen with my own eyes the indescribable joy on each person's face when they are given the gift of sight. I have seen children's faces light up in unbelievable wonder when they see for the first time in their lives.

A little nine year old blind girl, Nooria, about to have a cataract operation asked the doctor, "What colour is the wind?" Dr. Herbert Friesen thought about it while he examined Nooria's sightless eyes. "You know" he said, "in a couple of days you will be able to see what colour the wind is. I'll just do a small operation and everything will be clear and colourful." A few days later Dr. Chip Parker, one of CBM's optometrists, fitted Nooria with cataract glasses and she saw with crystal clear eyes the flowers, the butterflies and her new school books. But she never saw the colour of the wind.

Take away this prison of darkness - give the gift of sight, the gift that last a lifetime and allows a person to see the sun, the moon, the trees, the flowers and all the other beauty.

If you would like to give this extraordinary Christmas Gift of Sight, please send in your tax-deductible donation and any unused glasses you have to the Christian Blind Mission, P.O. Box 800A, R.R. 4, Stouffville, Ontario, L0H 1L0.

Yours on behalf of the Christian Blind Mission International,
Art Brooker,
Canadian Director

working towards peace. There is a place for involvement in society, perhaps by joining an organization like "People for Peace" in Minden, perhaps by writing a letter to a politician. Those things are also good and important.

I believe that either we will pray and work to end the arms race or the arms race will end the human race. What do you think?

which our grandparents didn't have. We also had turned in wrapped gifts for sale. The reports were given and 16 cards were sent since last meeting. Collections for the card fund and pennies for friendship were taken.

Regretably, Mrs. L. Cox and Mrs. Beauchage were away, but the latter will give a demonstration at another meeting. Articles for the Community Baskets may be left at the Library or at "The Times" until December 15.

Mrs. A. Kernohan gave an interesting report of Central Ontario area convention: new board member is Mrs. Junkin with alternate Mrs. Reeds, and Mrs. Thrasher of Burnt River is a new convenor. An item of note is that East Victoria District had full representation for a second year as many of these ladies went on the district bus.

The Christmas gift exchange is to be valued at two dollars. The group is to make plans for a special pot luck luncheon on its anniversary date, June 20, 1984. Mrs. Sears is the delegate to anniversary planning group. Mrs. Sears and Mrs. Hulbig will prepare a history for "The Times" as requested. The meeting adjourned and an auction sale followed. The lunch was served by the committee was really grand. Next meeting is the Christmas one at the United Church Hall December 21 at 2 p.m. A warm welcome is extended to all newcomers to come and enjoy this.

becomes really cold, the bird reduces circulation to its feet and legs, permitting just enough warmth to flow into them to keep them from freezing.

Now that's one feature I don't envy. The idea of standing at the bus stop in a blizzard with bare feet makes me cold all over.

When many people insure their personal belongings they make the mistake of believing that they are covered for full replacement value.

Sadly that's not always the case. Some policies will only pay out a fraction of what it would cost you to replace your possessions at current market value.
